Von den Bergen Idahos nach Cambridge – der unwahrscheinliche »Bildungsweg« der Tara Westover. Tara Westover ist 17 Jahre alt, als sie zum ersten Mal eine Schulklasse betritt. Zehn Jahre später kann sie eine beeindruckende akademische Laufbahn vorweisen. Aufgewachsen im ländlichen Amerika, befreit sie sich aus einer ärmlichen, archaischen und von Paranoia und Gewalt geprägten Welt durch – Bildung, durch die Aneignung von Wissen, das ihr so lange vorenthalten worden war. Die Berge Idahos sind Taras Heimat, sie lebt als Kind im Einklang mit der grandiosen Natur, mit dem Wechsel der Jahreszeiten – und mit den Gesetzen, die ihr Vater aufstellt. Er ist ein fundamentalistischer Mormone, vom baldigen Ende der Welt überzeugt und voller Misstrauen gegenüber dem Staat, von dem er sich verfolgt sieht. Tara und ihre Geschwister gehen nicht zur Schule, sie haben keine Geburtsurkunden, und ein Arzt wird selbst bei fürchterlichsten Verletzungen nicht gerufen. Und die kommen häufig vor, denn die Kinder müssen bei der schweren Arbeit auf Vaters Schrottplatz helfen, um über die Runden zu kommen. Taras Mutter, die einzige Hebamme in der Gegend, heilt die Wunden mit ihren Kräutern. Nichts ist dieser Welt ferner als Bildung. Und doch findet Tara die Kraft, sich auf die Aufnahmeprüfung fürs College vorzubereiten, auch wenn sie quasi bei null anfangen muss ... Wie Tara Westover sich aus dieser Welt befreit, überhaupt erst einmal ein Bewusstsein von sich selbst entwickelt, um den schmerzhaften Abnabelungsprozess von ihrer Familie bewältigen zu können, das beschreibt sie in diesem ergreifenden und wunderbar poetischen Buch. » Befreit wirft ein Licht auf einen Teil unseres Landes, den wir zu oft übersehen. Tara Westovers eindringliche Erzählung — davon, einen Platz für sich selbst in der Welt zu finden, ohne die Verbindung zu ihrer Familie und ihrer geliebten Heimat zu verlieren — verdient es, weithin gelesen zu werden.« J.D. Vance Autor der »Hillbilly-Elegie«

An ancient pact was once broken by the theft of Summer's Prince. Now, the Red King has found him. To live, to love, they seek the dark side of the sun... A thousand years ago, Milesian invaders gained ownership of Ireland from Summer's Queen through trickery. Since that day, the green isle's native sidhe have been imprisoned in their hidden kingdom, bound by their ancient pact with the Milesians. Now, the treaty has been violated. The Milesians have stolen Bran Fionnan, the son of Summer's Queen. Trapped in the human world with no way of returning home, Bran is held under a death threat that forces him to work for his captors. He must forge weapons the Milesian huntresses can use to slay their new foe: the Red King. The Red King is Macsen Cadoc, a vampire—a hunter who cannot stand being hunted. He seeks vengeance for the Milesian attacks in spilled blood—Milesian blood, and the blood of the sidhe traitor who has forged their weapons. When the one he finds is a victim, not a traitor, everything changes. Bran Fionnan is the Milesian's most valuable prize, but from the moment Macsen sees him, he wants him...and the Red King is not accustomed to being denied—by anyone. What begins with desire may end in extraordinary ways, but first there are questions that must be answered. What is love? Can it help Bran overcome lost ties and a lifetime's worth of anger? Can it help the Red King gain more than the satisfaction of his lusts?

In this masterful work, both an illumination of Kant's thought and an important contribution to contemporary legal and political theory, Arthur Ripstein gives a comprehensive yet accessible account of Kant's political philosophy. In addition to providing a clear and coherent statement of the most misunderstood of Kant's ideas, Ripstein also shows that Kant's views remain conceptually powerful and morally appealing today.

You may not recognize love at first, which is why you must treasure it, whenever you find it. To see properly, one looks for qualities of "humility" and "understanding". They are related to "kindness" and "equity". While "anticipation" and "determination" are required, you must also distinguish between "wanting" and "needing". Acknowledging the role of "patience" and "understanding", love will be as reliable and enduring as memory allows. This book was written in memory

The Swann's Song was originally mini books of poems requested by and given to family and friends at Christmas. The mini books were called the Dianne Swann Chronicles I through VI. These were poems with an African American female point of view that all could relate to. The Chronicles touch on everything including relationships, jobs, fantasy, friendship, unity, cancer, and domestic abuse. The Chronicles include years of musings and opinions. After numerous urgings and prompts by readers to get published, Miss Swann consolidated the Christmas gifts into one volume and titled it "The Swann's Song".

Act 1 When Sirenia Freeman moved to New York to begin a new life a decade earlier, she never imagined that she would return to San Francisco. She had left her past behind and moved on to pursue her dream of a better life. Act 2 The longing to rectify and heal her deep emotional wounds led her to try and seek solace in forgiveness. It beckoned her back to San Francisco, the city where she grew up. The only way she could ever truly be free was to understand why things happened the way they did and confront the one person with the answers. Act 3 Upon her quest for closure, Sirenia's best laid out plan got detoured. The roadmap took a turn directing her right into the arms of the leading man opposite her in the play they were performing in. Act 4 Falling in love was never part of her plan. However, Keefe's charm penetrated the walls she constructed around herself and left her wanting more than just answers. This budding relationship could force her to disclose her own dark repressed secrets and confront the truth she has kept hidden from everyone. Will it send her running back to New York more damaged and emotionally destroyed? Or will she finally face her inner turmoil and free herself to live a life she never allowed herself to dream of?

A collection of extraordinary letters expressing the joys, sorrows, and surprises of ordinary lives. We've all missed the chance to say something important. Friends fall out of touch, loved ones pass away, or sometimes the courage required is simply lacking -- and thank-yous, regrets, feelings, and secrets are left unshared. In 2009, Jackie Hooper came up with a way to help people recapture a moment that had once passed them by -- she began asking them to write letters. Based on the popular blog The Things You Would Have Said, this extraordinary collection of letters brings together the moving, surprising, and inspiring stories of ordinary people. By turns heartwarming, funny, sad, and wise, the letters showcase a remarkable range of voices and subjects. From the indignant young boy urging his bully to become "a better man," to the woman apologizing to the girl she picked on in high school, to a man thanking the woman who protected his family from Nazis, the letters bring together an outpouring of emotion that is as compelling as it is cathartic.

With Love from Alabama is the latest book from Alabama born author Dianne R. Swann. Look for her first children's book My Dad Is Not With Us. With Love From Alabama shows both the good and the bad side of love. The intimate collection of poems often reads like blues or country western songs. Part One touches on the good side of love, the thrills and chills of a new romance. The poems included in this section include the breathless "As If I Were A Fragile Gift", the coy "Secret Admirer" and the smile inspiring "The Morning After". Part Two of With Love From Alabama focuses on the not so good aspects of a once loving relationship. Poems from this section include the liberating Cut the Cord, the disgruntled "You May Have Lost My Number But I Threw Yours Away" and the short story length mantra of cheating "She Looked at Him in Disbelief" Other Books by Dianne R. Swann are The Swann's Song, WWW Dot Won't Wear A Rubber Dot Com and A Fried Baloney Sandwich For The Soul. All Books by Dianne R. Swann are available at Amazon.com or call 1-877-823-9235.

No one saw it being built, and the residents of River Bend, Arkansas never got acquainted with the builder before he just disappeared, but he left his tiny, strictly one-man, cabin behind on property that belonged to no one. The land had once belonged to the river, and someday it might be taken back, but in the 1900s hill country, it had one more purpose and the angels would see that the purpose came about. Young Jefferson Masters was a master logger, being the link between the massive trees on the hillside and the lovely, durable furniture created from oak, pecan and walnut logs. He was also skillful at turning logs into cabins, and would create one for himself just as soon as he found someone to occupy it with him. For a young man who is slow in finding a mate, the best path to take is toward a girl who knows how it's done... and again, it may take the services of an angel... or maybe a sick, old man.
