Testimony from a one-year old classroom: “Our teacher came into class one week with severe back pain. She thought she would do her best to make it through the day and did not tell anyone about her pain. One of the little babies walked behind her while the teacher was sitting down and babbled something while putting her hand on the teacher. The teacher thought, ‘Wow it almost feels like this child is praying.’ The child lifted their hands off the teacher, and all the pain left the teacher’s back at the same time and continues to have no pain!” Testimony from a four-year old classroom: “We were worshiping but all of the children were fighting and playing dress-up with the worship flags. Our teacher stopped everything and explained to them what worship is. It’s not time to fight or play; it is time to adore Papa God. She showed them how she worships and different ways other people worship. Some children laid down on the floor and others danced, but one girl was off to the side all by herself. She had her hands and eyes tightly held, and as she swayed back and forth in her blue dress we heard her say, ‘Jesus, I give you my whole heart, I love you Jesus.’ So Amazing!”
