Zu der Zeit, als noch die Spinnräder in den Bauerhäusern lustig schnurrten und selbst vornehme Damen in Seide und Spitzenbesatz ihr Spinnrad von poliertem Eichenholz zum Spielzeug hatten, da sah man wohl in ländlichen Bezirken oder tief im Gebirge gewisse bleiche kleine Gestalten, die neben dem kräftigen Landvolk wie die Überbleibsel eines verdrängten Stammes aussahen. Die Schäferhunde bellten wütend, wenn so ein fremdländisch aussehender Mann vorbeikam – denn welcher Hund mag einen Menschen leiden, der unter einem schweren Packen gebückt geht? – und ohne diese geheimnisvolle Last gingen jene blassen Leute selten über Land. Den Schäfern selbst war es zwar sehr wahrscheinlich, in dem Packen sei nichts als Garn und Stücke Leinen, aber ob sich diese Weberei, so unentbehrlich sie sein mochte, ganz ohne Hilfe des Bösen betreiben ließe, das war ihnen nicht so sicher. In jener fernen Zeit hing sich der Aberglaube leicht an jeden und jedes, was überhaupt ungewöhnlich war oder auch nur selten und vorübergehend vorkam, wie die Besuche des Hausierers oder Scherenschleifers. Wo diese Herumtreiber zu Hause seien oder von wem sie stammten, wußte kein Mensch, und was konnte man sich bei jemand denken, wenn man nicht wenigstens einen kannte, der seinen Vater oder

Mutter kannte?! Für die Bauern von damals war die Welt außerhalb des Bereichs ihrer unmittelbaren Anschauung etwas Unbestimmtes und geheimnisvolles; für ihren an die Scholle gefesselten Sinn war ein Wanderleben eine so unklare Vorstellung wie das Leben der Schwalben im Winter, die mit dem Frühlinge heimkehrten, und selbst wenn sich ein Fremder dauernd bei ihnen niederließ, blieb fast immer ein Rest von Mißtrauen gegen ihn bestehen, so daß es niemand überrascht hätte, wenn der Fremdling nach langer tadelloser Führung schließlich doch mit einem Verbrechen endete – zumal, falls er im Rufe stand, gescheit zu sein, oder besonders geschickt war in seinem Gewerbe. ?This book describes research undertaken by leading Australian researcher in Indigenous communities. While the chapters are Australian in their focus, the issues that are discussed are similar to those in other countries where there are indigenous people. In most cases, in Australia and internationally, Indigenous learners are not succeeding in school, thus making the transition into work and adulthood quite tenuous in terms of mainstream measures. The importance of being literate and numerate are critical in success in school and life in general, thus making this collection an important contribution to the international literature. The collection of works describes a wide range of projects where the focus has been on improving the literacy and numeracy outcomes for Indigenous students. The chapters take various approaches to improving these outcomes, and have very different foci. These foci include aspects of literacy, numeracy, curriculum leadership, ICTs, whole school planning, policy, linguistics and Indigenous perspectives. Most of the chapters report on large scale projects that have used some innovation in their focus. The book draws together these projects so that a more connected sense of the complexities and diversity of approaches can be gleaned. This book highlights decisions governments have to make about their public education systems, the options they have before them and the consequences of their decisions.

As well as covering issues such as values, curriculum, teacher training, structures and so on, the book addresses education planning for epidemics, pandemics and disasters. Education systems provide the foundations for the future wellbeing of every society, yet existing systems are a point of global concern. Education System Design is a response to debates in developing and developed countries about the characteristics of a high-quality national education service. It questions what makes a successful system of education. With chapters that draw on experience in education systems around the world, each one considers an element of a national education service and its role in providing a coherent and connected set of structures to ensure good education for all members of society. Key topics include: Existing education systems and what a future system might look like Inclusion and social justice Leadership and teacher education Policy options, and the consequences of policy changes This book suggests an education system be viewed as an ecosystem with interdependencies between many different components needing to be considered when change is contemplated. It is a vital book for any stakeholders in educational systems including students, teachers and senior leaders. It would be particularly useful to policy makers and those implementing policy changes.

The Economy of Ireland (14th edition) takes a holistic examination of the main features, performance and associated policy issues of the Irish Economy. The textbook begins by introducing the economic foundations of Ireland, considering the evolution of the Irish economy over time; the policy priorities for a small regional economy in the eurozone; the role of the state in policy making at national and international levels; taxation and regulatory policy; and the challenge of sustainable development. This provides a framework for analysing policy issues at a national level, including the Irish labour market and migration, inequality and poverty, and the care economy – examined both over time and relative to international experiences. Finally, the book considers issues at a sectoral level, from agriculture and trade to the education and health sectors. Packed with the latest available data, contemporary examples and references, as well as discussion and analysis of current topical issues, this is an ideal text for students studying modules on Irish Economics and anyone with a general interest in the history and development of the Irish Economy.

This book is the first comprehensive account of developments in open and distance non-formal education in developing countries for over more than 20 years. It includes many instructive and inspiring examples of how international agencies such as UNESCO, FAO, WHO, UNICEF, USAID and the Commonwealth of Learning and national providers are using radio, TV, online and mobile learning, telecentres and other means to achieve the Education for All, Millennium Development and Sustainable Development Goals. It describes the educational needs of the world's most disadvantaged, vulnerable and least formally educated children, youth and adult populations, including the disabled, refugees and prisoners. It also reports on the successes, outcomes, constraints and shortcomings of using open and distance methods and technology to deliver literacy and numeracy programmes, equivalency, 'second chance' or alternative schooling, life skills and rural community development programmes and income generation and vocational training outside the framework of the formal education system. It concludes with Designed to encourage further research and development in these capacity-building practices outside the established formal system, this is a must-read for all policy-makers, managers, educators, students and researchers interested in non-formal education for individuals, families and communities in the developing world.

Diese Sammlung von Schriften aus der Zeit von 1970 bis 1990 des brasilianischen Pädagogen Paulo Freire (1921-1997) gibt einen Einblick in die Grundlagen und Prinzipien seiner Bildungsarbeit auf der Basis der Pädagogik der Befreiung. In den ausgewählten Texten werden nicht nur pädagogische Probleme und inhaltlich-methodische Fragen der Bildungsarbeit thematisiert. Sie enthalten ebenso Analysen und Bewertungen von Politik, Kultur, Religion, Ethik und Veränderungsmöglichkeiten von Gesellschaft - eine Erweiterung, die sich gegen eine Vorstellung wendet, Pädagogik sei von Gesellschaft und Politik losgelöst zu behandeln. Scharfsinnig hat Freire u.a. die verheerenden Folgen des Neoliberalismus für Individuum und Gesellschaft analysiert und zum widerständigen Denken und Handeln ermuntert. Eine Auswahl repräsentativer alter und neuer Texte von Paulo Freire: Wer sie zur Hand nimmt, entdeckt rasch, dass uns dieser brasilianische Pädagoge nicht nur für die Theorie und Praxis unserer Erziehungsarbeit, sondern für unser Überleben Entscheidendes zu sagen hat. This study illuminates how the everyday activity of teachers raises profound economic, cultural, ethical, political and research issues, and provides a new and fruitful way of examining the practice of teaching. The first part of the book offers a detailed description of sensitively recorded school situations, arising from work carried out in a number of British primary schools. From the analysis of their research the authors constructed a theoretical perspective for looking at schooling in the form of sixteen 'dilemmas'; the second half of the book is concerned with this perspective, and shows how the dilemmas constitute a language for looking at everyday schooling and relating it to more general political, social and cultural issues. The book thus spans the gap in educational thinking between work with a firm empirical base and specifically theoretical studies.

In this book Eileen Trauth peers inside the day-to-day work lives of the people who have been bringing about Ireland's transition from a small agricultural country to a healthy information economy. It is one of few book-length interpretive studies in the information systems field. This book links the disciplines of information systems, international management, economic development, history, and public policy to tell the story behind the statistics about Ireland's economic development. The findings from this ten-year study illustrate the range of sociocultural factors, which influence the emergence of an information sector. Ireland's story contains a message for other nations that this change to a new way of working and living is intimately connected to the cultural context within which it occurs. This book reveals the ethnographic approach that was used by taking the reader through the interpretive process as it occurred. The Appendix is devoted to additional detail about the methodology. Audience: This book should be read by PhD students and others who want to learn more about the actual application of ethnographic methods in information systems research. It should be read by students, researchers, teachers, and policy-makers working in several fields including global information systems, the information society, management in the knowledge economy, and economic development.

economies of young people's health and well-being. Contributors explore how in the second decade of the 21st century, many young people in the OECD/EU economies and in the developing economies of Asia, Africa and Central and South America continue to be carrying a particularly heavy burden for many of the downstream effects of the 2008-09 Global Financial Crisis. The authors explore the ways in which increasing local and global inequalities often have profound consequences for large populations of young people. These consequences are not just related to marginalisation from education, training and work. They also include obstacles to their active participation in the civic life of their communities, to their transitions, to their sense of belonging. The book examines the choices that are made, or not made by governments, businesses and individuals in relation to young people's education, training, work, health and well-being, sexualities, diets and bodies, in the context of a crisis of neoliberalism and of austerity.

In her hilarious debut, Maeve Higgins smashes the brittle veneer on the creme brulée of life and hands around spoons, so we can all taste the delicious absurdity that lies beneath. She then promises to stop making terrible food analogies about everything. From terrifying hen nights, malevolent dolphins and angry bakers, to runaway cats, a stalker who won't commit and the curse of over-politeness, Maeve writes with warmth and wit about what it's like to be a regular human girl. We Have a Good Time...Don't We? introduces a strikingly original voice that celebrates the truth of what we really feel about ourselves through these hilarious and perceptive snapshots of life.

Nächtliche Entführung aus dem Zoo: Der Zoowärter dreht seine Runde im Zoo und wünscht allen Tieren eine gute Nacht. Dabei bemerkt er nicht, dass ihm der schlaue Gorilla den Schlüsselbund entwendet. Dieser trottet ihm hinterher und entlässt ein Tier nach dem anderen klammheimlich aus dessen Käfig. Vom Elefanten bis zum Gürteltier folgen nun alle Tiere dem müden Wärter bis in sein Schlafzimmer, wo sich alle gemütlich schlafen legen. Als die Wärtersfrau ihrem Schatz gute Nacht wünscht, antwortet die ganze Tierschar darauf höflich. Die Frau erschrickt und bringt pflichtbewusst alle Ausreisser zurück in ihre Käfige, ausser dem gefitzten Gorilla, der es wieder schafft, sich bei den Eheleuten genüsslich einzunisten. Ein lustiges Zoonachbereitungs- und Einschlafpappbuch mit köstlichen Bildern, das mit wenigen Worten sehr aussagekräftig ist und in Amerika bereits zu einem Riesenerfolg wurde. Wunderbar auch schon für die Kleinsten ein wahrer Bilderbuchschatz. Ab 3 Jahren, ausgezeichnet, Silvia Zanetti.

This book explores how curriculum reform is interconnected with policy, practice and society. Curriculum reform is increasingly associated with efforts to better the lives of citizens and provide a competitive edge to national prosperity. Educational policy and practice have been the subject of unprecedented convergence worldwide in the quest for so-called 21st century skills. This book offers a case study of curriculum reform within the Republic of Ireland,

Set against a backdrop of fluctuating economic fortunes and concerns about academic standards and educational equity, this volume has wider relevance beyond Ireland for any system undertaking education reform at scale.
