A little cloud becomes all sorts of things--sheep, an airplane, trees, a hat--before joining other clouds and raining.

Effective supervision is vital to instructional improvement, and this new edition of a bestseller pinpoints the techniques that matter most. Features 42 qualitative and quantitative observation tools.

The 2010 edition of the European Conference on Computer Vision was held in Heraklion, Crete. The call for papers attracted an absolute record of 1,174 submissions. We describe here the selection of the accepted papers: Thirty-eight area chairs were selected coming from Europe (18), USA and Canada (16), and Asia (4). Their selection was based on the following criteria: (1) Researchers who had served at least two times as Area Chairs within the past two years at major vision conferences were excluded; (2) Researchers who served as Area Chairs at the 2010 Computer Vision and Pattern Recognition were also excluded (exception: ECCV 2012 Program Chairs); (3) Minimization of overlap introduced by Area Chairs being former student and advisors; (4) 20% of the Area Chairs had never served before in a major conference; (5) The Area Chair selection process made all possible efforts to achieve a reasonable geographic distribution between countries, thematic areas and trends in computer vision. Each Area Chair was assigned by the Program Chairs between 28–32 papers. Based on paper content, the Area Chair recommended up to seven potential reviewers per paper. Such assignment was made using all reviewers in the database including the conflicting ones. The Program Chairs manually entered the missing conflict domains of approximately 300 reviewers. Based on the recommendation of the Area Chairs, three reviewers were selected per paper (with at least one being of the top three suggestions), with 99.

"Einigen Versuchungen hatte ich widerstanden und mir in diesem Punkte nichts vergeben; ich war noch nicht gottlos genug, um mich der reinen Lust wegen in Schande und Laster zu stürzen, und es fand sich eben niemand, der sich mit Geld, so wie ich es wünschte, um mich bemühte." (Aus dem Anfang des Romans) Daniel Defoe. Moll Flanders. Übersetzt von Joseph Grabisch.

Nonstationarity is another name for intermittency, a phenomenon which affects many physical processes. Data collected in many R&D programs frequently exhibit nonstationary features, and problems inherent in the analysis of such data are profound. The premier objective of these proceedings is to consolidate recent developments in nonstationary analysis. A second objective is to delineate open problems. A by-product will hopefully be a bridging of the gap between related governmental needs, and the present-day research capabilities of both academics and non-academics alike.

Business Plus is a three-level, integrated-skills, business English course, from A1 (false beginner) to B1 (pre-intermediate) levels. Each level of the Student's Book has 10 units. Designed to be easy and enjoyable to teach, each unit features integrated skills and language practice. Units also include cultural awareness sections that connect learners to their region and beyond. In addition, TOEIC-style practice sections allow students' progress to be measured.

Business Benchmark is a Business English course for BEC or BULATS and can also be used independently of these exams for general Business English courses.

This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post-workshop proceedings of the First WICI International Workshop on Web Intelligence meets Brain Informatics, WImBI 2006, which was held in Beijing, China, in December 2006. The workshop explores a new perspective of Web Intelligence (WI) research from the viewpoint of Brain Informatics (BI). The 26 revised full-length papers presented together with three introductory lectures have been carefully reviewed and selected.
