The purpose of this program was to analyze the effects of The Leader in Me/seven habits philosophy on the selected elementary school in western North Carolina. The perceived problem was that in this particular school there was a need for methods to encourage student participation and student motivation and to increase homework completion and classroom focus. -- The lack of these pieces within the school resulted in students who were unmotivated to learn, failed to follow discipline instructions, used inappropriate language with peers, and did not complete homework. The Leader in Me program referred to throughout this study was developed by the FranklinCovey Corporation. -- The setting for this project was an elementary school located in a rural county in western North Carolina, referred to as System X and School X. School X implemented The Leader in Me program and received in-depth training which concentrated on changing a culture and teaching leadership skills to young people. The identified school was chosen because the researcher was an administrator at the site and had access and working knowledge of the implementation of the program. Staff members and students were asked to respond to a five-point Likert survey. Responses from a state-generated Working Conditions Survey were reviewed and compared. Focus-group interviews of teachers were conducted by an appointed proxy. All questions were linked to the seven habits and the implementation. -- The study's methodology included survey responses, focus-group discussions, and test data. During the data collection process, the researcher categorized key words and concepts into general themes that were correlated to the key elements of The Leader in Me program and the seven habits. These themes were charted to indicate the level of implementation and the success of the implementation of The Leader in Me program. -- The findings substantiated that The Leader in Me program met with different degrees of success in various areas.

Die zentrale Botschaft des Buches: Nicht angelernte Erfolgstechniken, sondern Charakter, Kompetenz und Vertrauen führen zu einem erfüllten und erfolgreichen Leben. Das gilt in unserer heutigen volatilen Lebens- und Arbeitswelt mehr denn je. Was für die Businesswelt gilt, gilt durchaus auch für Studenten und Schüler: Von den universellen Prinzipien, die Stephen R. Covey mit seinem zeitlosen Weltbestseller aufgestellt hat, profitieren junge, erfolgsorientierte Menschen in besonderer Weise. Sean Covey, Sohn von Stephen R. Covey und President Education Division bei der international tätigen Managementberatung FranklinCovey, fasst in diesem E-Book die 7 Wege für Studenten zusammen und zeigt, wie Fairness, Integrität, Ehrlichkeit und menschliche Würde in unser Leben und Miteinander integriert werden. Auf den Punkt gebracht erläutert er, wie die 7 Wege jedem Einzelnen zu mehr Erfolg verhelfen können – im Studium und im Leben.

Research has shown that risk behaviors such as substance abuse and school violence negatively impacted both students and their schools. The data has demonstrated a need for an education that strengthens a student's ability to make choices that benefit themselves, their school, and their community. Studies have shown that effective character development can increase academic achievement and decrease undesirable behaviors, but also that it improves the quality of the school. Improving the quality of the school is beneficial as there is a proven relationship between parents' perceptions of a positive environment and parents' motivation to become involved in the school. In turn, studies demonstrated that when parents become involved at school, there are increases in academic achievement and student motivation, as well as decreases in retention and drop-out rates. This study examined the impact the character development program The Leader in Me has on parent perceptions of a positive school environment. The results of two years of parent satisfaction surveys were compared, specifically examining the responses to the survey statement "Overall school environment is positive". Parents responded to this statement on a Likert scale of one to five, one being strongly disagree and five being strongly agree. When compared to the survey results from the year prior to The Leader in Me Implementation, the 2012-2013 parent satisfaction survey, the fourth year of The Leader in Me participation, demonstrated statistically significant decreases in the number of parents strongly agreeing that the overall school environment was positive.

Motivation durch Sinn Jeder dritte Arbeitnehmer hat innerlich bereits gekündigt: Konflikte, Frust und mangelnde Motivation sind die Folge. Die Ursachen sind nicht nur im falschen Führungsverhalten des Top-Managements zu suchen, sondern auch bei jedem Einzelnen: Das Fehlen von Sinn führt zu Leistungseinbußen, psychosomatischen Beschwerden und allgemeiner Unzufriedenheit. Viktor Frankl, der Begründer der Dritten Wiener Richtung der Psychotherapie bzw. Logotherapie stellte die Suche nach dem Sinn in den Mittelpunkt seines Lebenswerkes. Alex Pattakos überträgt Frankls Gedankengut auf die Arbeitswelt und lädt den Leser ein, ihm auf der Suche nach dem Sinn zu folgen. Er zeigt, wie es gelingt, nicht mehr Gefangener negativer Gedanken zu sein, sondern eingefahrene Muster zu überdenken, eigene Widerstände gegen Veränderungen zu überwinden und damit die Tür zu einem tieferen Sinn aufzustoßen. Die zweite überarbeitete Auflage enthält einige neue Fallbeispiele. Außerdem wurde ein weiteres Kapitel hinzugefügt: „The Meaning Difference“, das Forschungsergebnisse darüber beinhaltet, wie sehr das Vorhandensein von Sinn das Leben von Menschen verbessern kann.

Reflecting the increased attention to gender and women in the field of employment relations, there is now a growing international literature on women and trade unions. The interest in women as trade unionists arises partly from the fact that women comprise 40 percent of trade union membership in the USA and over 50 percent in the UK. Further, despite considerable overall union membership decline in both the UK and USA, more women than men are joining unions in both countries. Recognition of the importance of women to the survival and revival of trade union movements has in many cases produced an unprecedented commitment to equality and inclusion at the highest level. Yet the challenge is to ensure that this commitment is translated to action and improves the experience of women in their union and in their workplace. Gender and Leadership in Trade Unions explores and evaluates the similarities and differences in equality strategies pursued by unions in the US and the UK. It assesses the conditions experienced by women union members and how these impact on their leadership, both potential and actual. Women have made gains in both countries within union leadership and decision-making structures, however, climbing the ladder to leadership positions remains far from a smooth process. In the trade union context, women face multiple barriers that resonate with the barriers facing aspiring women leaders in other organizational contexts, including the gendered division of domestic work; the organization and nature of women's work; the organization and nature of trade union work and the masculine culture of trade unions. The discussion of women trade union leaders is situated more broadly within debates on governance, leadership and democracy within social justice activism.

Was braucht es, um eine erfolgreiche Führungskraft zu sein? Bestsellerautorin Brené Brown weiß es: Gute Führung zieht ihre Kraft nicht aus Macht, Titeln oder Einfluss. Effektive Chefs haben zu ihrem Team vielmehr eine intensive Beziehung, die von Vertrauen und Authentizität geprägt ist. Ein solcher Führungsstil bedeutet auch, dass man sich traut, mit Emotionen zu führen und immer mit vollem Herzen dabei zu sein. "Dare to lead - Führung wagen" ist das Ergebnis einer langjährigen Studie, basierend auf Interviews mit hunderten globalen Führungskräften über den Mut und die Notwendigkeit, sich aus seiner Komfortzone rauszubewegen, um neue Ideen anzunehmen.

The origins of the American educational system have always included a character education component. Teaching students moral values and the ability to know right from wrong is a component of the educational mission of our society. Character education evolved over the centuries, yet the core values of implementing right from wrong and the necessity of building moral values into our nations fabric has not changed. As we continue to move into the 21st century, technology and social issues have evolved, and character education programs and curriculum must adapt and evolve to our modern times in order to meet the needs of all students, as well as our society as a whole. The purpose of this qualitative study was to explore how principals have implemented The Leader in Me (TLIM) program in elementary schools in a large urban school district. Through interviews with 12 principals, the researcher gathered information about their experiences with the TLIM program, including why and how the principals implemented the program, how they measured its success, what they have learned, how they have adapted the TLIM program for their own school environments and cultures, what they would change, and what advice they would give to other school leaders. The findings from this study suggest that all 12 participants agreed that TLIM program had a positive impact on the culture and communities of their schools and that although the program is costly, many participants were eligible for TLIM grant funding. Additionally, the results revealed that the participants acknowledged the all-inclusive nature of TLIM program and were able to measure the success of TLIM through multiple evaluation systems. Participants saw a decrease in disciplinary referrals as well as student suspension rates. Additionally, the findings revealed that participants found implementing TLIM in their schools had little to no push back from the school community. Participants acknowledged that they had autonomy in celebrating success of TLIM in their schools as well as autonomy in the orientation and implementation process of incorporating TLIM in their schools. The insights gained from this study will inform and assist other schools leaders in implementing TLIM and other character education programs.

Vertrauen bildet die Grundlage für alle Beziehungen und jede Form der Kommunikation, für alle Individuen, Unternehmen, Organisationen und Zivilisationen rund um den Globus. Mangelndes Vertrauen zerstört auch die erfolgreichsten Unternehmen, die mächtigste Regierung und die florierendste Wirtschaft. Trotz der offensichtlich immensen Macht von Vertrauen spielt es im realen Geschehen kaum eine Rolle und gehört wohl zu den am meisten unterschätzten Faktoren unserer Wirtschaft und Gesellschaft. Stephen M. R. Covey zeigt in seinem viel beachteten Buch „Schnelligkeit durch Vertrauen“, dass Vertrauen kein weicher Faktor ist, sondern ein pragmatischer und realer Wert, den man erschaffen und zur Handlungsgrundlage machen kann. Er präsentiert konkrete Vertrauensregeln und Prinzipien und zeigt, wie auf allen Ebenen eines Unternehmens Vertrauen aufgebaut, gelebt und gefördert werden kann. Seine These: Vertrauen ist eine Schlüsselkompetenz und ein Art Teilchenbeschleuniger für die Wirtschaft.

The purpose of this study was to compare students who are proficient in the seven habits to those who are not by measuring the difference in their academic performance and to determine if the difference was statistically significant. This study also focused on the subgroups of gender and status as an English language learner as they pertained to proficiency on the benchmark assessment. The study took place at one elementary school site, located in a San Diego suburb, with an overall student population of approximately 645 students and included all third grade students at this school. The researcher utilized a quantitative methodology approach. Data were collected in the form of a seven habits assessment as well as a Language Arts benchmark assessment. The tests were scored against a rubric and students were categorized as proficient (> 70%) or not proficient (

Sean Covey zeigt in seinem liebevoll illustrierten Kinderbuch 7 Wege zu glücklichen Kindern wie Eltern die Gewohnheiten ihrer Kinder sanft in die richtige Richtung lenken können. Children in today's world are inundated with information about who to be, what to do and how to live. But what if there was a way to teach children how to manage priorities, focus on goals and be a positive influence on the world around them? The Leader in Me is that programme. It's based on a hugely successful initiative carried out at the A.B. Combs Elementary School in North Carolina. To hear the parents of A. B. Combs talk about the school is to be amazed. In 1999, the school debuted a programme that taught The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People to a pilot group of students. The parents reported an incredible change in their children, who blossomed under the programme. By the end of the following year the average end-of-grade scores had leapt from 84 to 94. This book will launch the message onto a much larger platform. Stephen R. Covey takes the 7 Habits, that have already changed the lives of millions of people, and shows how children can use them as they develop. Those habits -- be proactive, begin with the end in mind, put first things first, think win-win, seek to understand and then to be understood, synergize, and sharpen the saw -- are critical skills to learn at a young age and bring incredible results, proving that it's never too early to teach someone how to live well.

This study was completed to determine if there is a significant difference in office discipline referrals in a school without the Leader in Me implemented one year and with the Leader in Me implemented the following year. The reasons for the referrals should be considered when looking at the differences between the two school years. The amount different teachers integrated the seven habits from the Leader in Me in the classroom should be considered as well. Finding of this study shows that in one school that implemented the Leader in Me had fewer office discipline referrals than the previous year when the program was not in place. The reasoning behind this data is not pinpointed in the study, but administrators at Leader in Me schools have expressed how implementing the program has created a more positive atmosphere in their schools and therefore, has decreased the amount of office discipline referrals. After reviewing the findings of this study and current research of Leader in Me schools, it is found that implementing the Leader in Me shows a decreasing number of office discipline referrals. Project leaders are expected to deliver business benefits quickly. Business outcomes occur when project leaders actively engage business partners, establish risk management and cost management, and create highly effective teams. Imagine being excited to go to work, feeling valued and energized. Then image creating this type of environment for your team. The focus of the book is on developing your leadership skills to create productive, energized teams to deliver expected business benefits on time and on cost. Career opportunity is knocking for project professionals with the right skills. With new positions created each year, organizations have an accelerated need for project professionals. Project leaders can choose opportunities of their choice.

The purpose of this explanatory, sequential design, mixed methodology case study was to examine the implementation process of The Leader in Me at a suburban elementary school. In the study, the researcher examined the actions that educational leaders took to implement The Leader in Me and examined the challenges that leaders faced throughout the implementation process within a suburban elementary school. The Leader in Me is an evidence-based, social-emotional, learning process that (a) was developed in partnership with educators, and (b) empowers students with the leadership and life skills that they need to thrive in the 21st century. The specific skills that The Leader in Me focuses on are student self-confidence, teamwork, initiative, responsibility, communication, creativity, self-direction, leadership, problem solving, and social etiquette. There is a missing piece in American education policy. The connection between students' academic learning and social-emotional learning is complicated; however, it is necessary to recognize it. Respect, responsibility, honesty, trust, positive relationships, justice, integrity, and good citizenship are necessary elements for classrooms and schools to function and for the adults in the school to serve as educators and role models for students. The participants in the study include an administrator and teachers who were involved with the implementation process of The Leader in Me at one suburban elementary school. In this case study, the researcher used mixed methods data collection techniques to collect and analyze qualitative and quantitative data. The data collection instruments used in this study included one-on-one interviews, artifact analysis, and a survey. The findings of this study gave the researcher information about (a) the process of implementing The Leader in Me, (b) the actions that were taken to do so, and (c) the challenges that were faced. The researcher also gained knowledge about the culture that existed at the school so that the program could be implemented and maintained.

The Impact of PDS Partnerships in Challenging Times is the follow up to Doing PDS: Stories and Strategies from Successful Clinically Rich Practice (2018). The first book included stories that described our experiences across more than twenty-five years of PDS partnerships. We sought to examine and chronicle the innovative ways we negotiate school-university collaboration while explaining the development of the SUNY Buffalo State PDS consortium. This second volume strives to explore the impact of our endeavors individually at each school/community site and collectively as an entire consortium to point to the important ways that school-university partnership contributes to all stakeholders and where we might do better. SUNY Buffalo State's PDS roots go back to 1991 with one local school partner. Today this school-university partnership consortium connects with over 100 schools with approximately 45 signed agreements each semester in Western New York, nationally, and internationally. The SUNY Buffalo State PDS consortium is grounded in three frameworks for clinically rich practice: (a) the National Association for Professional Development Schools Nine Essentials (Brindley, Field, & Lesson, 2008); (b) CAEP Standards for Excellence in Educator Preparation, Standard 2 (<http://caepnet.org/standards/standard-2>, 2018); and (c) the Buffalo State Teacher Education Unit Conceptual Framework (<https://epp.buffalostate.edu/conceptualframework>, 2018). Through specific examples, each chapter utilizes a case study approach to describe the nature of various partnerships situated in research with a focus on the impact of the partnership. The chapters are intentionally succinct to provide a focused look at a particular partnership activity as each contributes to the larger goals of the entire consortium. Every chapter follows a similar structure – defining a challenge identified by the members of the consortium, a review of the relevant literature, an explanation of how the school/community liaison team responded to the challenge and the data gathered to determine impact, an "impact at a glance" chart to report the findings, and an identification of the necessary next steps in the project.

SUNY Buffalo State is a unique urban comprehensive liberal arts public institution serving a large number of first generation college students. One flagship program at the college is the Professional Development Schools (PDS) consortium. Beginning in 1991 with one partner school, the SUNY Buffalo State PDS consortium now partners with approximately 45 schools locally, in Western New York, New York City, and across five continents. This book seeks to share the skills, knowledge, and examples of evidence-based practice of this innovative program to offer readers ideas for how teacher education and professional development might be re-conceptualized and re-energized.

An introduction to leadership draws on a program developed for an elementary school to show how to apply the principles of "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People" to help everyone, including young children, identify and use their individual talents.

Change your child's future starting today: Learn how to use Stephen R. Covey's proven 7 Habits to create a leadership program for kids of all ages so they can be more effective, more goal oriented, and more successful. In today's world, we are inundated with information about who to be, what to do, and how to live. But what if there was a way to learn not just what to think about, but how to think? A program that taught how to manage priorities, focus on goals, and be a positive influence? The Leader in Me is that program. In this bestseller, Stephen R. Covey took the 7 Habits that have already changed the lives of millions of readers and showed how even young children can use them as they develop. These habits-be proactive, begin with the end in mind, put first things first, think win-win, seek to understand and then to be understood, synergize, and sharpen the saw-are being adapted by schools around the country in leadership programs, most famously at the A.B Combs Elementary school in Raleigh. Not only does it work, but it works better than anyone could have imaged. This book is full of examples of how the students blossom under the program: the classroom that decided to form a support group for one of their classmates who had behavioural problems; the fourth grader who found a way to overcome his fear of public speaking and wound up taking his class to see him compete in a national story telling competitive, or the seven-year-old who told her father than they needed to go outside and play because they both needed to 'sharpen the saw'. Perfect for individuals and corporations alike, The Leader in Me shows how easy it is to incorporate these skills into daily life. It is a timely answer to many of the challenges facing today's young people, businesses, parents, and educators-one that is perfectly matched to the growing demands of our certain future.
