Everything a trader needs to know to develop a successful system Technical analysis--the reading of price and volume charts to identify trading opportunities--has long been a staple in the trader's toolkit. Well before computers took much of the labor out of technical analysis, traders have examined trends, filters, patterns, and especially indicators to help them identify when to get in and out of trades for maximum profit. Now, a highly experienced analyst divulges his proven techniques for identifying the major trend, determining the "trend within the trend," finding the optimal entry, and then choosing the right time to get out. He shows traders how to most effectively use multiple indicators and know what they are really telling about the markets. While his techniques can be used without the aid of computers, he explains how readers can automate their systems using commercially available software. John F. Clayburg (Coon Rapids, IL) is a technical analyst with over twenty years in the game. He is the developer of the Cylone S & P Day Trading System and the author and developer of Parallel User Function Technology, a unique self-adaptive trading software platform.

As a trader, you have to come up with various strategies in order for you to ensure that you do not make losses when buying and selling stocks. You must be in a position to predict how the market will be in the near future. This will give you an insight into whether you should invest your money in the stock market or not. You will be required to analyze all the technical indicators in order for you to be able to tell whether the stock prices will go up or not. The difference between day traders and swing traders is that the day traders monitor all the price movements in the stock in order for them to be able to tell whether they should buy or sell their stocks. The swing traders are, however, never interested in the prices of the stocks at any given time. This means that they can trade at any given time. Their interest is the long-term benefits they get from the stock market. The swing trader will invest their money in a hurry and expect to get returns quickly. They may be lucky to make profits at times, but they may also be unlucky to make losses. With swing trading, one has to be a risk-taker to indulge in it. This means that they should be ready for losses, even as they make profits. However, they can make sure that they know where their support comes from. They should also be able to identify their resistance levels through the use of technical analysis. This will be of great help in ensuring that they are excellent traders. Most traders do not like swing trading. This is because it is said to be riskier. It is risky since the trader's interest is on the profits they make as they close the stocks. This means that they can either make profits or losses since the market is not predictable. They may find themselves getting shocked as a result of a change in the economy hence change in the prices in the market. The interest rates would be too high, which will make them get losses. Who would want to be in a situation where they make losses after investing all their money in the stock market? No one would want that to happen to them. We all look forward to better days. We want to make profits and expand reinvest again. It is therefore important for one to ensure that they take their time before investing in the market in order for them to ensure that they minimize the chances of making losses. In this book, you will learn: ? The Basics of Swing Trading ? Characteristics of a Swing Trader ? How to start Swing Trading ? The Difference between Investor and Trader ? Finding a Suitable Market ? Buying and Selling of Stocks ? Platform and Tools of Trading ? Fundamental and Technical Analysis ? Understanding Support and Resistance Levels ? Time and Money Management ? The mindset of a

Day trading entails buying and selling of stocks within the same day. It enables you grow your income through making profit from stock price changes that occur during the day. To successfully engage in day trading, it is important to understand how it works. Apart from knowledge associated with basic trading, day traders must also keep track of the latest stock market news and analysis that can affect or impact their stocks. They must be aware of breaking news and the economic outlook held by experts. Day trading requires a trader to put in at least four to five hours every day. Smaller amounts invested in stocks will make it easier to track them and assess how your investment is doing. Buying fractions of a stock is a good idea for beginners. It is always best to remain calm and collected, especially when the market is moving unpredictably. This is a characteristic that all day traders must possess to make the most of their trades. Your stock decisions should be based on logic and not impulsiveness. You must always have a plan of action ready. Successful traders will be able to move fast between plans and maintain decorum while trading. It will be best to stick with a winning formula compared to chasing profits.
