Antoine Warren is a New York City kid who is looking for direction in life. Growing up in a dysfunctional family and looking for acceptance, Antoine decides to venture off into the street life by joining a notorious gang. In the beginning all seems well with his new lifestyle, until it leads him into places and situations he wasn't expecting to go. Antoine encounters one life threatening/changing circumstance after another – some expected and some unexpected. Feeling all alone, struggling with life, and totally lost, is there light at the end of the tunnel for Antoine? Yet somehow through it all, divine intervention intercedes and Antoine figures out that he may not have been alone all along. Part I

SHE'LL ROCK HIS WORLD After weeks on a sold-out tour, singer Cady Ward is coming home for the holidays. But after one too many episodes of fan-craziness, Cady's manager decides that she needs protection—in the form of muscled cop Conn McCormick. Longing for peace and quiet to prepare before her next album drops, Cady doesn't need a bodyguard just to deal with some vague email threats...though she can't deny that close proximity to Conn's body is a very nice place to be. Conn is in the midst of a career scandal when his boss assigns him to pop-star guard duty. It's a poor use of his skills, even though Cady's feisty nature proves the perfect distraction for Conn while Internal Affairs investigates his case. What begins as a sizzling attraction becomes something deeper than either Conn or Cady could have expected. But when Conn uncovers the sinister plan behind the threats to Cady, he's faced with a professional dilemma: To save her life, will he risk having a future with the only woman who's ever touched his soul? What these bestselling authors have to say about Anne Calhoun's romances:

"Scintillating sexual chemistry!"—Lauren Dane "Uncommonly good storytelling."—Beth Kery

Even if you've never attended a wedding in the South, you'll find laughter in the pages of this deliciously entertaining slice of Southern life and love, complete with recipes, advice, and a huge dose of that famous charm "In the Mississippi Delta, funerals bring out the best in people, while weddings, which are supposed to be happy occasions, bring out the worst." So say Gayden Metcalfe and Charlotte Hays, authors of the bestseller Being Dead Is No Excuse: The Official Southern Ladies' Guide to Hosting the Perfect Funeral, who turn their keen eyes and sharp wit from the end of the life cycle to the all-important midpoint. For anyone planning, participating in, or attending a wedding (Southern or not), this book will amuse, entertain, and provide advice for marital bliss, including: It's OK to peek at an etiquette book, but if you rely too heavily on it, people will think that you are not fully acquainted with what is right and wrong. Anything that was not done in the past doesn't need to be done now--consider this before ordering a groom's cake, especially one featuring a fishing-tackle or golfing theme.

"There's no way not to suffer. But you try all kinds of ways to keep from drowning in it." The men and women in these eight short fictions grasp this truth on an elemental level, and their stories detail the ingenious and often desperate ways in which they try to keep their head above water. It may be the heroin that a down-and-out jazz pianist uses to face the terror of pouring his life into an inanimate instrument. It may be the brittle piety of a father who can never forgive his son for his illegitimacy. Or it may be the screen of bigotry that a redneck deputy has raised to blunt the awful childhood memory of the day his parents took him to watch a black man being murdered by a gleeful mob. By turns haunting, heartbreaking, and horrifying--and informed throughout by Baldwin's uncanny knowledge of the wounds racism has left in both its victims and its perpetrators--Going to Meet the Man is a major work by one of our most important writers.

"[A] truthful look into the world of Methadone treatment with a mix of compassion and humor. It is a great read for those in the recovery field and provides insight for those who do not understand the life of addiction and recovery."--Lori Carter-Runyon, executive director of Hilltop Recovery Services.

In Leading at a Higher Level, Updated Edition, Blanchard and his colleagues bring together everything they've learned about world-class leadership. You'll discover how to create targets and visions based on the "triple bottom line"...and make sure people know who you are, where you're going, and the values that will guide your journey. From start to finish, this book extends Blanchard's breakthrough work on delivering legendary customer service, creating "raving fans," and building "Partnerships for Performance" that empower everyone who works for and with you. Updated throughout, this new edition contains two powerful, important new chapters: one on coaching to create higher-level leaders, and another on creating a higher-level culture throughout your organization. It also offers the definitive, most up-to-date techniques for leading yourself, individuals, teams, and entire organizations. Most importantly, it will help you dig deep within, discover the personal "leadership point of view" all great leaders possess--and apply it throughout your entire life. In Helping People Win at Work, WD-40 Company President/CEO Garry Ridge reveals how his company has used Blanchard's techniques to "Partner for Performance" with every employee, and achieve unprecedented levels of employee engagement and commitment. Ridge introduces WD-40's performance review system, explaining its goals, its features, and the cultural changes it required. Next, Ridge shares his "leadership point of view": what he expects of people, what they can expect of him, and where his beliefs about leadership and motivation came from. Finally, in Part IV, Ken Blanchard explains why WD-40's Partnering for Performance program works so well and how it can work for you, too. This book isn't about cheerleading: it's about transforming performance review one step at a time and reaping record-breaking results!

Suffering and loss are a part of life. Whether it's a divorce, a layoff, a death, a physical illness, financial loss, or other significant life change, as human beings we all go through events that create emotional pain and turmoil. Feelings of depression, anxiety, anger, helplessness, failure, shame, and guilt often follow the seismic shift that arises out of our suffering during these experiences. Get Up And Keep Going explores how to transition from hardship and distress to a place where we not only recover but thrive. Within each devastating experience is an opportunity to transform pain into meaningful and insightful lessons for personal growth and self-discovery. Garrett Guenot shares his experience working as a psychotherapist with people who've overcome major life obstacles to emerge as conquerors of their own misfortune. You'll learn the tools and techniques to overcome failure, recover from loss, master your emotions, manage pain and anxiety, feel empowered and self-confident, and develop the strength to take on the challenges in your life. You can choose to live in suffering or choose to live a full life and discover who you were born to be.

Do you worry about our planet, with its environmental crises, global warming, widespread violence, and global poverty? Do you feel powerless to change your life and impact your world? What in the World Is Going On reframes these crises as an invitation to open our minds and hearts to a new awareness of our fundamental interdependence with all beings. With breathtaking optimism, it offers courage and hope to all who hold the world in their hearts and grieve. Crises bring opportunities. We are poised to vastly expand our consciousness, allowing us to address our deep fears and create communities which embrace and serve all of us. The rich conversation between Manjushri, the Tibetan teacher, and the student probes the roots of our fears and challenges our common assumptions about the roles of science and markets in our world. It rejects the inflated claims of our ego-selves and the stifling confines of materialism. The Teacher assures us everything can be changed. We can escape our isolation, celebrate our interdependence with all beings, and heal our communities. The worldwide web allows us to connect with like-minded people around the world. This epochal shift in energy and consciousness is well underway. The Teacher encourages all of us to trust our emerging visions, dissolve the fears shrouding our best selves, and allow our natural compassion to flow out into the world.

The Crisis, founded by W.E.B. Du Bois as the official publication of the NAACP, is a journal of civil rights, history, politics, and culture and seeks to educate and challenge its readers about issues that continue to plague African Americans and other communities of color. For nearly 100 years, The Crisis has been the magazine of opinion and thought leaders, decision makers, peacemakers and justice seekers. It has chronicled, informed, educated, entertained and, in many instances, set the economic, political and social agenda for our nation and its multi-ethnic citizens.

Ease your child's fears and go on a dental adventure with Katie when she discovers floss and goes on her first trip to the dentist. It begins with a moment of fascination and ends with an adventure that is sure to make any child smile.

I am a 47-year-old respectable, ordinary woman. I sold my home in Belfast at the height of the housing market boom. After taking advice from someone I thought to be financially astute, I invested most of the proceeds from the sale. This resulted in me being almost broke and homeless to boot. Consequently, I found myself moving into a hostel in Belfast. My story, in journal form, gives an insight into how this affected my life. I fell into depression, was prescribed anti-depressants, drank to excess on an almost daily basis, but eventually, slowly, began the fight to get out. The three months spent inside the hostel are a total revelation; a culture shock to say the least, and I impart a bit of the life within, providing detailed accounts of horrors of which the outside world is unaware. I lived amongst a cross section of Belfast's undesirables, learned how to survive, fought the system, and unexpectedly, made a friend along the way. I confide in only a handful of people and do my damndest to hide it from the rest. I can accept help from no one on the outside, for fear of jeopardising my fight to be re-housed. My story is as accurate an account of life in a hostel as it is possible to be. Nothing is left out. My determination is fierce and I eventually do go home. It all occurred in 2009. Della B. lives in South Belfast, Northern Ireland. She is inspired by ordinary people who achieve extraordinary things. <http://SBPRA.com/Della>

This book is the second in a series about how I learned some of the most important lessons in life. For me many of those lessons happened while I was in the navy. That should be understandable because that was the first time I was away from home, still in my late teens but on my own out in the world away from the comfortable and secure surroundings I grew up in. This book covers the time period when I was still new in the navy, going to various schools before I would be of any real use. It's not really about the navy as much as it is about the people. What people do is where you learn a lot about life.

This novel tells the story of Eula, who dreams of becoming a New Yorker. En route to New York, however, she meets a friend; with this intervention, she chooses to go to North Carolina, eventually becoming a wife and mother. Eula's life later changes abruptly and dramatically; she loses the love of her life—her husband, Gene—and two sons within two hours. Her godly daughter-in-law, Nona, leads her to a relationship with Jesus Christ. Eula opens her heart to the love of her estranged sister. She moves back to her birthplace in Oregon, where a new life begins. Her new faith allows God to work in her and brings her to love a man who would become a blessing, with a lifestyle she never dreamed she'd have. This is a story of tragedy, triumph, and joy. Know Eula as a friend, and experience tears as well as humor.

This is a STANDALONE story, OR it can be read as part of the Closer Than Blood series. Tino Santini is offered the role of personal assistant to his wealthy CEO after being trapped with him in an elevator. It seems a night of scorching sex can do wonders for a flagging career. Richard Mason is the pansexual businessman who wants more of Tino's talented mouth and organisational skills. He seems to have it all, but a former female lover and a murky past all threaten to destroy his chance of happiness. Neither he or Tino expect their new relationship to be anything other than business, until a personal tragedy means Richard needs Tino more than ever. As trouble builds on the horizon, both men embark on a hedonistic journey of sex, murder and possibly love.

Someone is moving in next door. Josh sees a big truck. He sees lots of boxes. Then he sees something funny. What's going on?

What Is That Boy Going To Do Next? is a story about a maverick, a nonconforming teenager, with an insatiable curiosity about the world of diverse people, places and ideas. It is also a tale of a teenager's tough-loving mom and the tension it causes, a strict dad incapable of taking care of business because of addiction to alcohol, a generously loving stepmom whose support is transformative, and a brother practicing his version of sibling rivalry. At age 14, the boy flees a monotonous life in St. Louis. And after a long and circuitous journey that includes living in Bainbridge (Maryland), Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego and traveling in the Pacific and the Far East to places such as Honolulu, Guam, Okinawa, Samar Island, Manila, Shanghai, Tsingtao, Tokyo and Yokosuka—at age 19, he finally settles in New York City—where as an adult he becomes an accomplished and multifaceted educator.

How much would you pay to know if you were going to Heaven? This book will explain God's plan so you can know for sure that you will go to Heaven. You can also share this message with your family and friends so they, too, can know. This is priceless! I have heard people say, "I cannot read the whole Bible." Well, this book is not the whole Bible, but it is God's plan from the Bible. It tells why God created the world, why He sent His Son to Earth, and what is needed to enter His Kingdom and live with Him and His Son forever. It will tell you how to get to Heaven in simple terms. I highly recommend this book to those who would like more information on what it means to be a Christian. This book will no doubt prove to be a useful tool for small groups, Bible classes and individuals who desire to grow in their understanding of God's Word. Ron Wise's approaches the text of Scripture with reverence and simplicity. Dr. Tom LaHue D.Min. Grace Theological Seminary I spent the first several years of my Christian life feeling overwhelmed by the sheer size and scope of the Holy Bible. The task of learning the Bible just seemed too big. In this book, Ron Wise presents the reader with a practical and precise overview of the Bible that can be read quickly and easily. His words are scripturally based, doctrinally sound, and offer a comprehensive picture of both the Old and New Testaments. I wish that I'd had this book in my hands when I was a new Christian. So, you want to teach your child about the September 11th attacks and the War On Terrorism, in a factual and straight-forward, yet comforting and reassuring age-appropriate manner, but you're having trouble finding the words. What in the World is Going On? Am I Safe? (A Letter to American Kids) is the very book you've been waiting for. Written as a letter to "The Kids of America," it addresses two key points: Just what happened September 11th, and the issue of feeling safe. Read through it once for yourself, then share it with your child. It may make you cry, but it will also make you smile.

From the author of the Gemma Doyle trilogy and The Diviners series, this groundbreaking New York Times bestseller and winner of the Michael L. Printz Award for literary excellence is "smart, funny, and layered," raves Entertainment Weekly. All 16-year-old Cameron wants is to get through high school—and life in general—with a minimum of effort. It's not a lot to ask. But that's before he's given some bad news: he's sick and he's going to die. Which totally sucks. Hope arrives in the winged form of Dulcie, a loopy punk angel/possible hallucination with a bad sugar habit. She tells Cam there is a cure—if he's willing to go in search of it. With the help of a death-obsessed, video-gaming dwarf and a yard gnome, Cam sets off on the mother of all road trips through a twisted America . . . into the heart of what matters most. From acclaimed author Libba Bray comes a dark comedic journey that poses the questions: Why are we here? What is real? What makes microwave popcorn so good? Why must we die? And how do we really learn to live? "A hilarious and hallucinatory quest."—The New York Times "Sublimely surreal."—People "Libba Bray's fabulous new book will, with any justice, be a cult classic. The kind of book you take with you to college, in the hopes that your roommate will turn out to have packed their own copy, too. Reading it is like discovering an alternate version of The Phantom Tollbooth, where Holden Caulfield has hit Milo over the head and stolen his car, his token, and his tollbooth. There's adventure and tragedy here, a sprinkling of romance, musical interludes, a battle-ready yard gnome who's also a Norse God, and practically a chorus line of physicists. Which reminds me: will someone, someday, take Going Bovine and turn it into a musical, preferably a rock opera? I want the sound track, the program, the T-shirt, and front row tickets."—Kelly Link, author of Get in Trouble, finalist for the Pulitzer Prize

His music is known around the world; with hits like "I Heard It Through the Grapevine" and "How Sweet It Is" Gaye helped create the sound of R&B. But who was Marvin Gaye? From his childhood to his ultimate murder by his own father, this mini biography will give you insight into what inspired the man and his music. LifeCaps is an imprint of BookCaps™ Study Guides. There's trouble in Nova and the citizens of the kingdom must once again put their faith in Samantha Kemi to save the day in the final novel of the "charming and humorous" (Kirkus Reviews) Potion Diaries series. After the royal tour, Samantha Kemi thought she could take a break from saving the day. Her grandfather Ostanes is healthy, she's about to be named a Master Alchemist, and Princess Evelyn is happily married to Prince Stefan. Except—Sam has no proof that Evelyn is happily married because she hasn't seen the princess in days... Prince Stefan is now the public face of the Royal family. Princess Evelyn has gone MIA just when Nova (and Sam) needs her most. A surge of magic is spreading across the country—like a virus—and every Talented person is suddenly more powerful. With the Talented getting stronger, Ordinary people begin to worry about an imbalance in the magic streams—and in society. When a group of Talented kids—Sam's sister Molly among them—are attacked with a powerful sleeping potion, Prince Stefan is convinced that the Ordinary people are taking a radical stand against Talented and reinstates the old ban on traditional alchemy. Now Sam's hands are tied. Does she trust Nova's scientists to find a synthetic cure to this curse, or does she break Stefan's royal decree and use her skills to save her little sister—and possibly all of Nova—from a forever sleep?

Science knows that there are two types of feather—the ones with the rachis (stem) in the center and the ones that have the rachis off center. The difference is that the off-center stems are only grown by the birds that can fly. In addition to the stem being off center, the individual barbules in the vanes are interlocking. This is why our last book in the series Going Towards the Nature Is Going Towards the Health is entitled Feather by Feather. The reader will now attain knowledge to overcome the challenges that lead towards disease and see the bigger picture in climbing to the highest stages of health—in other words, happiness. Because health is happiness. Shaman Melodie McBride Rosy Cole is thrilled when Mrs. Oliphant selects her idea, "Nature's Gifts," as one of the themes for the school's fall fair. Rosy's team will be gathering rocks, shells, and sea-
